

AllOne Health Resources Complimentary Webinar Series
Engaging Efficiently and Effectively in an E-world

Thursday, September 16, 2010
1 pm to 2 pm (Eastern Time)

Most Americans view electronic communication as an essential part of their professional and personal lives. According to the Pew Internet & American Life Project, 96% of employed American adults are in some way making use of new communications technologies, either by going online, using email or owning a cell phone. While the majority of respondents indicated that these technologies have improved their ability to do their job and their ability to share ideas with co-workers, it has also increased the number of hours they work and the level of stress in their job.

Additionally, e-communication and online networking are frequent sources of misunderstandings in the workplace. As a leader, it can be challenging to manage these misinterpretations and address these distractions amongst your employees.

Please join us on Thursday, September 16 at 1 pm Eastern Time for an hour-long webinar on Engaging Efficiently and Effectively in an E-world. This webinar will discuss the efficacy and etiquette of electronic communications to improve the outcomes of you and your staff's e-exchanges. After this webinar you will have a better understanding of:

- Etiquette for the "e"-world
- How to "e"-communicate effectively
- How to revive the personal touch

Who Should Attend

If you're a leader who wants to help your employees communicate more effectively in an e-world, or if you still have challenges feeling comfortable in the e-world, then this webinar is for you.
